Application

Get the Web Advantage and stay connected to your MegaTron, MegaTronXS controllers! Web Advantage keeps you in constant contact with all of your on-line MegaTron controllers at one time over the World Wide Web.

Web Advantage uses web based communications with the newest, most reliable and secure server technology for connection, control and history management.

An exclusive summary view lets you check the status of all your connected MegaTrons on one screen. Email alerts from the server ensure that users are kept informed of any alarm conditions, including disconnection and power loss encountered by remote MegaTrons.
Internet Communications

WebAdvantage works for you by automatically emailing your custom designed reports to whom you want when you want them. Reports can include probe, water meter, relay and notepad history along with many other items. The exclusive "summary" view combines important information from all of your connected MegaTrons in a single view when you log in to WebAdvantage. Email alerts from the server ensure that users are notified of any and all problems, including alarm conditions, loss of communications connection or loss of power.

Options to interface your MegaTron with the WebAdvantage service:

Direct Network Connection

The H communications option consists of a network interface card allowing access to a TCP/IP enabled network. It supports DHCP and static networks via on screen configurable options and can access the internet.

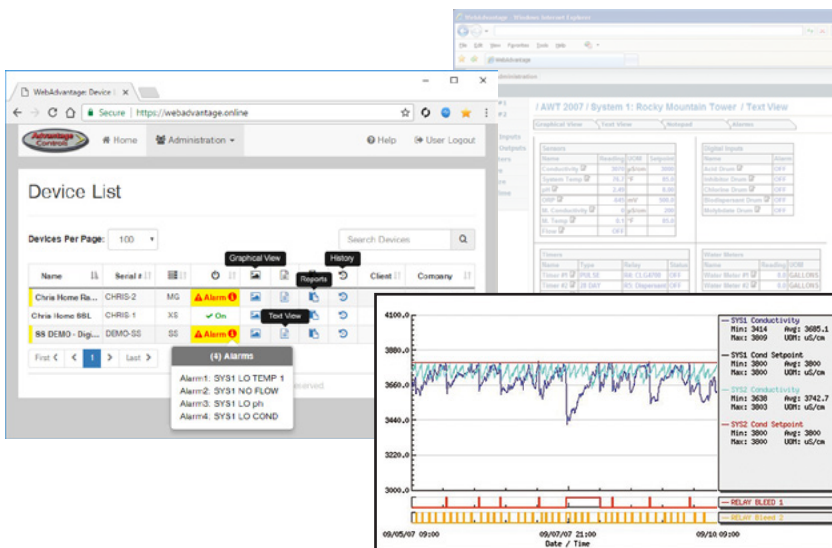

Cellular Router Connection

Solid Blend has external cellular routers and data plans available to connect units with the H option to the internet via cellular networks.
